

Student life

This section of the Handbook deals with your general life as a student at the University of Sunderland outside your academic study, and describes many of the services and facilities that the University offers

It's helpful to make yourself familiar with this section of the Handbook and to bookmark it – even if you do not need some of these services now, you may want to access them in the future.

Please note that if you are studying at the University's London Campus, or at one of our partner colleges in the UK or overseas, the services available to you or how you access them may differ, and you should look to the local website, your programme handbook, college or other information provided to you which describes this.
