

eduroam

The University of Sunderland is a participating member of eduroam(UK), this is a secure, world-wide roaming access service developed for the international research and education community. Eduroam allows visiting students, researchers and staff from participating institutions to obtain internet connectivity when visiting other participating institutions. The eduroam(UK) service is now available for staff and students of The University of Sunderland who are visiting other participating institutes.

From 2017-10-23 due to the launch of the new wireless system we need to make some changes, and one of those is to remove any existing eduroam profiles from your device(s). To do so please follow the instructions below for your device.

+ Windows 7

+ Windows 8 & 8.1

+ Windows 10

- How to access eduroam?

The eduroam(UK) service provides an infrastructure that allows Sunderland users, to use their own credentials to gain wireless network access when visiting participating organisations. A list of participating organisations can be found here. If you are trying to connect at another University your user id becomes `userID@sunderland.ac.uk` (ab0abc@sunderland.ac.uk) or `userid@student.sunderland.ac.uk` (ab0abc@student.sunderland.ac.uk) and your password is your University account password.

Prior to attempting to connect to the wireless network, visitors should first read the IT Regulations & Acceptable Use Policy. All connections to our network are bound by these policies and by joining our network you agree to adhere to these regulations.

The eduroam(UK) service is available in all locations across campus where the wireless service is available.

The Service Set Identifier (SSID) for eduroam(UK) access is "eduroam" and this will need to be used when connecting to the network. Please connect to the eduroam service using WPA2/AES as the encryption settings, all previous settings are no longer valid.
