

Christabel Okeoma Ihedike

PhD Doctor of Philosophy

Title.

Effect of photochemical smog on respiratory health patients in Abuja Nigeria

Thesis Outline.

Major Source of Photochemical Smog Causes/Formation of Photochemical Smog Factors Influencing Photochemical Smog Formation Effect on Developing Countries Photochemical smog and Abuja Nigeria Effect of Photochemical Smog on Respiratory Health

Biography.

Christabel is a PhD student at the department of Health, Sciences and Wellbeing at the University of Sunderland since 2015. She is highly motivated and hardworking individual with a Master's degree in Public health and other qualifications in Public Health project management and Health improvement. Currently working on the effect of photochemical smog on respiratory health in Nigeria'. Having worked for many years in the Nigerian National Climate change and health Programme as a scientific officer.

Research Activities.

Presented a talk at the Natural Environment Research Council (NERC) science Seminar at Newcastle University 23 May 2017
Attended 11 th Air quality conference and presented a talk March 12-16 2018 Barcelona Presented my research findings at the University of sunderland cross disciplinary conference
Online presentation at the 1st National Air Quality Workshop Nigeria 15 th March2018 Attended U3A Wearside and presented a talk 14, August 2019

Citations And Presentations.

<https://waset.org/conference/2018/02/paris/ICAPC> <http://sure.sunderland.ac.uk/id/eprint/9670>

Christabel Okeoma Ihedike

Contact Details.

Christabel.Ihedike@research.sunderland.ac.uk

Health, Sciences and Wellbeing

Director of Studies.

Professor Mark Davies

